Home by architects Stephen Dynia and Lisa Carranza-Habib.

A home of concrete, steel, and wood is a resoundingly beautiful display of modern western architecture. The home offers 360-degree views of mountains and a beautiful transition back to nature. The Zen-like water feature leads you gently from the hard edge of modern architecture back to the wild grasses and flowers on the site. "The feature is like being on the ocean, listening to the water as it flows over the river rocks in the splash-down pool," says Lisa.
